

Why?

Financial companies choose how they share your personal information. Federal law gives consumer the right to limit some but not all sharing. Federal law also requires us to tell you how we collect, share, and protect your personal information. Please read this notice carefully to understand what we do.

What?

The types of personal information we collect and share depend on the product or service you have with us. This information can include:

- Social Security number
- Account balances
- Credit history
- Credit scores
- Account transactions
- Checking account information

When you are no longer a member, we continue to share your information as described in this notice.

How?

All financial companies need to share members' personal information to run their everyday business. In the section below, we list the reasons financial companies can share their members' personal information; the reasons Cloverbelt Credit Union chooses to share; and whether you can limit this sharing.

What We Do

How does Cloverbelt Credit Union protect my personal information?
To protect your personal information from unauthorized access and use, we use security measures that comply with federal law. These measures include computer safeguards and secured files and buildings.
We limit access to non-public personal information to those employees who need that information to provide products and services to you.

How does Cloverbelt Credit Union collect my personal information?
We collect your personal information, for example, when you

- Open an account
- Apply for a loan
- Use your credit or debit card
- Make deposits or withdrawals from your account
- Show your government-issued ID

 We also collect your personal information from others, such as credit bureaus, affiliates, or other companies.

Why can't I limit all sharing?
Federal law gives you the right to limit only

- sharing for affiliates' everyday business purposes - information about your creditworthiness
- affiliates from using your information to market to you
- sharing for nonaffiliates to market to you

 State laws and individual companies may give you additional rights to limit sharing. See below for more on your rights under state law.
