FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

CDC Federal Credit Union Participates in Clark Howard's Annual Habitat Build

ATLANTA, GA, March 30, 2009--- CDC Federal Credit Union (CDC FCU) employees joined forces with the 13th Annual Clark Howard build on Saturday, March 21. Fifteen CDC FCU volunteers assisted with various projects on two of the five home builds, including landscaping, painting, craftsmanship and more.

As part of the credit unions community service initiative, Because We Care, the Habitat build was one of the most popular events amongst CDC FCU employees for the 2009 calendar year. Because We Care is a community-based outreach program built on the standards of growth, compassion and empowerment. Specifically, the program allows us to help those who are in need of educational, volunteer, or financial support.

“We are extremely proud to be part of such a worthwhile cause and helping build the homes of first-time homeowners in Atlanta,” said Betsy Mercier, president and CEO. “It is always exciting to see the positive morale and outpouring of our volunteers spike for events like the Habitat build.”

In addition, CDC FCU offers first-time homebuyer programs through the Georgia Department of Community Affairs (DCA) and the Federal Housing Administration (FHA), as well as down-payment assistance made available through a grant from the Federal Home Loan Bank of Atlanta (FHLBank).
