FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

CDC Federal Credit Union Extends Hand for Nearby Atlanta Service Project

ATLANTA, GA, April 12, 2007---On a blustery Saturday morning, CDC Federal Credit Union (CDC FCU) employees joined together in an effort to preserve Dunwoody Nature Center (DNC), a nearby community park. In conjunction with Hands on Atlanta, the project directly helped DNC refurbish, develop, and preserve 22 acres of land in DeKalb County, Georgia on Saturday, March 17 from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m.

CDC FCU volunteers showed “united” support, by wearing Because We Care t-shirts, while assisting with various tasks such as planting flowers and trees, rebuilding ponds, and placing birdhouses around the nature trails. These minor repairs helped DNC maintain its fresh appearance and contribute to the enhancement of the surrounding communities.

DNC is a non-profit organization funded by program fees, donations, memberships from local businesses and citizens, and grants. It is also partially owned by DeKalb County Parks and Recreation; however, staffing, operation, programming, equipment, supplies, and environmental improvements are all owned by DNC.

“This event allowed us to show our support for the community as a caring corporate neighbor,” stated Sharon Cook, Vice President of Marketing Services. “The importance and enthusiasm for giving back to the local community showed on the smiling faces of our volunteers.”

Currently, associates are volunteering for other Because We Care events such as the March of Dimes walk, Special Olympics of Georgia, meal packing for Hands on Atlanta, and coordinating a car wash to raise money for Children’s Miracle Network.

Because We Care is a community-based outreach program built on the standards of growth, compassion, and empowerment. It provides opportunities for volunteers to establish and help with special projects in the North Atlanta area. CDC FCU employs 65 people and is federally insured by the National Credit Union Administration. For further information about CDC FCU, visit our web at www.cdfcu.com.
